COMMENTS FROM THE TOWN MANAGER'S OFFICE

The town line between Bethel and Albany is being surveyed this week. This job is one of the reasons for the increase in the Miscellaneous Account this year. Some of the town lines are easy to find and there isn't much question about the accuracy of the line. The Bethel-Woodstock line was surveyed and painted about six years ago. The Bethel-Woodstock line was re-painted last November. That line should never have to be re-surveyed again if the line trees are spot painted every five or six years. There are nine towns or plantations that border on Bethel. About four of the town lines are in good condition and easy to find. It will take about five years to do the remaining lines at a rate of one line a year.

The town crew has been doing up some small jobs prior to the regular spring clean-up. Some gravel has been hauled to the town dump so there is no excuse for not dumping in the proper place. The town of Hanover plans to discontinue their town dump and the citizens of Hanover will use the Bethel dump in the future. Of course there is a financial arrangement, just as there is with the town of Newry.

Most of the catch basins and surface drains have been cleaned in case there is a heavy rain. There is an unusually large amount of sand to be swept up on the streets because of the large number of light snow storms and rain storms we had this past winter.

Some of the bad pot holes have been patched but it is very difficult to get a large amount of patch at this time of year. All of the pot holes will be patched as soon as the stock pile of road patch thaws.

Michael Houlahan

Sunday guests of Mrs. Sadie Brooks and Mrs. Dorothy Brink were Mrs. Mabel Bryant and daughter, Frances, Mrs. Dorothy Harvey of South Paris, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Flanagan and Anna of Norway, Leroy Olson of Wilson's Mills.

57% GOES FOR EDUCATION IN OXFORD COUNTY

What price education in Oxford County? Of every dollar spent for public purposes locally, what part of it is for school operations? How do local school costs compare with those elsewhere?

A report recently released by the government, based upon a nationwide survey, shows that education is, by far, the largest financial burden locally.

No less than 56.7 percent of all government expenditures in the county are for school buildings, for teachers salaries, for maintenance, for equipment and for other expenses connected with school operations.

In some parts of the country it runs higher than that and in other parts, lower. On the average, throughout the United States, local governments devote 44.1 percent of their budgets to education. In the State of Maine, 55.9 percent is so allocated.

The data was obtained by the Census Bureau in its first study of the kind since 1957. It examines the extent of spending for educational purposes in all communities in the country once every five years.

In Oxford County, it shows, overall expenditures by local governments were equivalent to $42.42 for every man, woman and child in the population. Of this amount, $24.38 went for education.

By way of comparison, the general cost of education elsewhere in the United States was $36.58 per capita. Among counties of similar size, the average was $29.59 per capita.

A substantial upgrading of the educational level has been noted in almost every part of the nation. Currently, four out of every nine adults have gone through high school and one out of every eleven has had four years or more of college training. This is well beyond the attainment reported a decade ago.

While the increase in total population in the past ten years has been about 18 percent, the increase in the number of school children has been close to 50 percent.

The increased enrollments combined with the higher cost of operations, have created serious financial problems for most local governments.

SCHOOL SURVEY

continued from page one school census. These facts will be presented to the joint committee at a meeting to be held in April. After necessary information has been obtained it is expected that special town meetings will be called in the various towns to vote on the question of joining a SAD.

Information as to state valuation of each town, two year average of pupils, valuation per pupil, percentage of pupils and percentage of share of costs for each town, was presented at the meeting for the towns of Andover, Bethel, Greenwood, Newry, West Paris, and Woodstock. Figures to include Upton will also be prepared.

If a SAD were to be formed with the six town group, not including Upton, the state would pay 53.9% of the foundation program, (regular school maintenance), and 49% of the cost of all new construction, and or, debt on any new construction since 1957. Present debt is Bethel $35,000, Newry, $20,000; West Paris, $22,500. Andover has voted to build a new elementary school at a cost not to exceed $120,000, and if this is done this would be added to the debt. Greenwood and Woodstock are debt free, as is Upton.

Cost of the new high school has been estimated at $1,560 per pupil. While figures are not complete at this time it is expected that construction of a high school for from 300 to 550 pupils would be necessary. Total number of pupils for the proposed district, both elementary and secondary, is approximately 1,650 at the present time. High percentage is Bethel with 43.7; Woodstock, 14.7; West Paris, 14.5; Andover, 13.3; Greenwood, 9.2 and Newry, 4.5. Share of foundation program: Bethel, 17.1; Andover, 9.2; Woodstock, 6.5; West Paris and Greenwood, 6.1 each; Newry, 2.1 per cent. New construction and debt: Andover 9.1; Bethel 19; Greenwood and West Paris, 6.7 each; Newry, 2.3, and Woodstock, 7.27. Percentages are based on number of pupils and valuation per pupil.

State valuation per pupil for each town are: Andover, $8,695; Bethel, $5,497; Greenwood, $9,240; Newry, $6,337; West Paris, $5,870; and Woodstock, $6,185. Figures to include the Town of Upton have not been compiled at this time, but will be presented later.

Mrs. Seymour Butters was guest of honor at a surprise birthday party Saturday evening given by her mother, Mrs. H. I. Bean. MAINE SCHOOL SUPTS.

FAVOR STATE

PERSONAL INCOME TAX

Maine school superintendents have voted in favor of the personal income tax as the best means of providing money for services. Dr. Robert S. Wells, Farmington, superintendent of MSAD 9 and president of the Maine State Superintendents Association, announced Monday.

He said the action was taken at a recent meeting of the MSAD 9. The resolution approved said the superintendents "recognize that a broad based state tax is needed to support the general services necessary in this biennium and go on record as favoring a personal income tax as the best means of meeting this end."

The resolution urged that "a substantial part of the revenue be returned to the communities to ease the burden of the local property tax."

Dr. Wells said the superintendents, who work closely with town and city finance committees, are keenly aware of the increasing demands that education is making of the property tax owner. "We feel that we have the responsibility to go after budgets large enough to provide good education," he said, "but we are becoming increasingly convinced that property taxes are bearing too heavy a share of the load. Schools need more help from the State and we believe that the income tax is the best way to provide it."

He said that more state aid is the only way to provide equal educational opportunity in Maine. "The children in poor towns have just as much right to an education as the children in more prosperous places," he said.

Mr. and Mrs. Francis Berry entertained on Sunday afternoon in honor of the birthday of their son, Scott, who was four years old on the 14th and David who was five on the 7th. DISCRIMINATION SHOWN IN MAINE HOUSING

Negroes in two communities in Maine have been subjected to "discriminating, often humiliating" experiences in their attempts to obtain rental housing, according to a report of the Maine Advisory Committee to the U. S. Commission on Civil Rights released Tuesday.

The report, "Denial of Equal Opportunity in Rental Housing and its Effect on Negroes in Portland and Bangor, Maine," was based on testimony taken at two open meetings in the State. Witnesses at the Portland meeting described "acute problems of prejudice and denial of equal opportunity in housing."

The report includes several accounts detailing incidents in which Negroes were reportedly harassed by real estate firms and agents, landlords and other residents of the two Maine cities.

The State Advisory group concluded from its investigation that "the Negro population in Maine may be expected to grow and that unless the problem of denial of equal opportunity in housing is recognized and adequately met at once, increased residential segregation of Negroes will result."

The Committee found that "there is urgent need to enact State legislation which would eliminate such practices in the State."

The Maine Advisory Committee to the U. S. Commission is one of 51 groups in each state and the District of Columbia who advise the federal body of civil rights developments in their area. Members are citizens of standing who serve without compensation.

Louis Bostick of Lewiston serves as chairman of the Advisory group. Other members include: Dr. Robert E. L. Ridd, vice chairman, Waterville; Mrs. Jeanne P. Blaisdell, Bangor; Mrs. C. A. Burdett, Jr., Cape Elizabeth; Mrs. James S. Cole, Brunswick; The Reverend Joseph I. Craig, Hallowell; Mrs. Richard Thompson, Lewiston; Hugh C. Saunders, Cumberland; Edward Merrill, Augusta; Jonas O. Rosenblum, Waterville; and Miss Andrea Bear, Waterville.

In the cast, directed by David Thompson, are Tim Willes, Tom Day, Jack Andrews and John Goodrich. The judges at Stephens High School, where Gould's thespians competed with three other schools in this preliminary round, commended the cast for their excellent direction and projection of the play's dramatic theme, two points which went far in their winning over other schools in Area Five.
